

BANKERS REFUSE TO FLOAT LOAN TO GERMANY WITHOUT BETTER GUARANTEES INCLUDING EVACUATION OF THE RUHR VALLEY

(BY LLOYD ALLEN)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 22.—(By the United Press)—A meeting of the "Big Five" premier of allied nations at Downing Street, this morning, was informal and no communiqué was issued but Premier Herriot, who previously had breakfasted with Premier MacDonald, departed from the meeting obviously pale and worried and conversing earnestly with Premier Theunis, occasionally punctuating his remarks by tapping the ground with his ebony cane. Herriot and Theunis remained on the curbstone outside for some time in deep conversation.

Immediately after the allied statesmen had departed, the British cabinet met hastily at the prime minister's residence, and it was understood a reported hitch in the conference was discussed.

The Daily Telegraph says that Thomas Lamont, representing the American banking groups, told the premier the bankers cannot touch any proposed loan to Germany without much better guarantees than those so far suggested.

The guarantees, the newspaper quotes Lamont as saying, must include evacuation of the Ruhr.

"The ministers received this ultimatum with keen disappointment and some feeling," the newspaper says.

Premier Herriot was closeted with Lamont all last evening, according to the Daily Telegraph, pleading with him to reconsider the ultimatum out of consideration for French feeling, which the premier said cannot countenance evacuation of the occupied German territory at this time.

The American banker listened to Herriot's arguments attentively, but replied that a loan under the proposed guarantees is impossible.

Ohio River Drops Ten Ft. Near Cincinnati; Boats Stranded

CINCINNATI, O., July 22.—At least five river steamers are aground and innumerable house boats are stranded as the result of an unprecedented drop of ten feet in the Ohio river within the last 24 hours. The drop was caused by the sudden rising of the river in the Cincinnati area.

It is expected the situation will be righted within five hours as the dam at Fernbank below Cincinnati is being raised. The inflow of water will again float the grounded and stranded river craft and restore the Ohio river to its usual depths around Cincinnati.

Parents of Students Reconciled To Having Boys In Pen For Life; Do Not Want Them Freed

CHICAGO, July 22.—Jacob Franks, father of the 13-year old victim of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers will be the first witness for the state when the presentation of evidence begins tomorrow before Justice John R. Cavendish in the judicial hearing destined to fix the punishment of the youthful intellectuals.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, will make a brief opening statement setting forth the aims of the prosecution and suggesting the punishment, death—demanded by the state.

Mr. Franks will take the stand after the opening statement. The hearing is purely in the nature of an advisory conference, in which opposing counsel present arguments and evidence in support of the respective pleas for punishment.

Having yesterday entered formal pleas of guilty to the charges of murder and kidnapping, Leopold and Loeb face a certain sentence with the only question centering about the degree of severity.

After the statement of the father, the state plans to present expert testimony from several noted alienists designed to demonstrate the mental responsibility of the defendants. The entire proceedings, it was noted, should require about three weeks.

CHICAGO, July 22.—The million-aires parents of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, super-intellectuals, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Robert Franks, 14, are reconciled to having the boys jailed for life. Charles Darwin, chief defense attorney, declared today in revealing to United Press the dramatic conference of attorneys and relatives to decide on a line of action.

"Neither the parents nor the defense attorneys want to see the boys freed," Darwin said, "but we do not want them to hang."

"By pleading guilty, these boys forfeited all hopes of being freed," Darwin said. "They cannot and they should not go free. Our only desire is to save them from the gallows—we would be satisfied if they received life imprisonment. Of course we would welcome a lighter sentence."

Darwin told of the agonizing scene when parents of the youthful slayers agreed to throw their sons' fate upon the mercy of the court.

RUTHERFORD FAILED TO CONVERT BRYAN TO RUSSELLISM; OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION BUT COMES OUT IN FAVOR OF BOBBED HAIR

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—(By the United Press)—Judge C. F. Rutherford, president of the "Russellites" told the convention today that he had failed in an attempt recently to convert William Jennings Bryan to the belief of Pastor Russell that "millions now living will never die."

"Bryan is on the wrong track, and is doomed to failure in his efforts to reform the world," said Rutherford. "The world needs enlightening, not reforming. I tried to win Bryan to our way of thinking while he was in New York at the Democratic Convention, but I don't think I got very far."

Rutherford, successor to Pastor Russell, started a movement against "Statutory Morality" in the convention when he declared: "Morals cannot be enforced by law. I abhor liquor myself, but I am unequivocally against prohibition. It is certain to increase the use of liquor rather than to decrease it. I am against anything that interferes with the personal rights of men."

Judge Rutherford was brought out on bobbed hair by a shingle-bobbed hair delegate who inquired whether the Bible advised against it.

"There is nothing in the Bible to prohibit bobbed hair," Rutherford said. "It is not immoral and apparently it is a great convenience."

3,000 Killed In Brazilian Revolt Sunday

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Three thousand civilians are reported to have been killed and injured in fighting at Sao Paulo between Brazilian federal and revolutionary forces.

Reports received today by the state department said, however, that no Americans were included among the casualties.

The heaviest fighting of the revolt, the message said, took place during the night of July 20, but the result did not materially change the situation.

The rebel forces, it was said, appear to be well equipped with arms, ammunition and food. Their strength was estimated at 10,000 or more.

The American consul at Sao Paulo, Arminius T. Hacheler, and American Trade Commissioner Cornell were reported "well and safe."

The food supply of Sao Paulo was declared to be adequate but many thousands of residents had left the city. Americans in Sao Paulo are housed in the district, described as being "most adequately protected."

The Brazilian forces at Sao Paulo are being further strengthened by reinforcements sent by the government from various points.

Noted Coffee Metropolis Is Now Besieged On All Sides

BUENOS AIRES, July 22.—(By the United Press)—All railroads leading into Sao Paulo city have been cut and the famous coffee capital now is beleaguered on practically all sides.

Some mob depredations are reported, indicating the population may have got from out of control of the rebel government temporarily. These disorders, however, are reported being checked ruthlessly.

Big American packing plants in Sao Paulo, including the $20,000,000 Armour plant built during the World War, are reported undamaged. Other reports reaching here say the federal forces have brought up several additional air planes which are flying daily over Sao Paulo city, when weather permits. It now is the middle of the winter south of the equator and the weather around Sao Paulo has been cold and rainy.

These reports do not indicate the rebels are near defeat and one message says they are extending their lines toward Santos where federal troops are entrenched.

Says Half of People Driving Autos Should Be Behind The Bars

AKRON, O., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—While city officials were debating methods of traffic safety at a meeting called following the collision Saturday, in which Mrs. Lulu McGraw was killed, the session was thrown into confusion by City Law Director Hagelbarger's statement that "half of the people driving on the streets should be in jail."

"They are not fit to be driving, anyway," Hagelbarger declared. "Put them in jail and break it up. 12% reformation we need, not education."

Up to that time the conference had been divided on the policies of educating the public or drafting new traffic regulations.

"We have enough laws now," the law director said. "Enforce the present traffic laws to the letter. That is the remedy."

Among the measures proposed to eliminate traffic fatalities were licensing of drivers, a boulevard stop system, erecting more "stop" signs and advertising the traffic laws in newspapers.

Hundreds of Passengers Take To Small Boats As Gaping Hole Threatens To Sink Steamer

(By The Associated Press)

Between 800 and 900 passengers on the Sound Steamer Boston, rammed by the tanker Swift Arrow off Point Judith, Rhode Island, last midnight, were on their way to various ports today aboard the several steamers which responded to the calls for help and picked up the life boats in the fog.

Three passengers, two men and one woman, were killed and one injured in the crash, according to reports received by the Eastern Steamship Company, owners of the Boston. Details of the collision were fragmentary. Other reports told the death list as high as five.

The Fall River Steamers Priscilla and Providence with some of the Boston's passengers aboard, were steaming to New York. The Plymouth brought several survivors to Fall River, Mass.

The Boston, badly crippled, and partly filled with water, was in tow of a tug off Newport, R. I.

The Swift Arrow anchored off Beaver Tail, R. I., and sent out nine boats filled with passengers for Newport.

Sale of Beer By Glass Approved

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Sale of beer by the glass here is favored by a majority of 53, it was announced yesterday after tabulation of the absentee vote of a plebiscite held last week.

The count of the absentee vote changed a "dry" majority of 159 on the home vote to a "wet" majority of 53. An official count of ballots has been demanded by the temperance party.

Whether any city or municipality in the province will be allowed to open beer bars remain in doubt while officials of the provincial secretary's department started to complete the tally of beer plebiscite results throughout British Columbia.

With returns from a number of small towns still outstanding the provincial majority against sales of beer by the glass stands approximately at 1,000.

Firpo Admitted As a "Visitor"

NEW YORK, July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, whose arrival in the United States was complicated by a six-hour detention by the immigration authorities, is scheduled to confer with Tex Rickard today in regard to his forthcoming battle with Harry Wills, negro challenger.

He spent last night at Astoria, L. I., following his release from Ellis Island. Firpo was given a hearing there by a special board of inquiry on the charge of having an "insufficient visa" on his passport. He was finally admitted to the country as a "visitor," the authorities waiving the technical deficiencies of the passport.

Miss Hanae Lourdes, a Cuban, who says she is a friend of the fighter, but not one of his lovers, was detained at Ellis Island last night. Immigration officials said she would be released today upon deposit of a $500 bond guaranteeing her sailing for Cuba, her intended destination, on the next boat.

PORTLAND, OREGON, July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Two boys at the Young Men's Christian Association camp at Spirit Lake on the slopes of Mt. St. Helen's believe they were the apes which prospectors reported hurled stones at their cabin recently.

One of the boys, Maxwell Pierce, in a letter to his parents, said, "we stumbled onto a trail that led to the miners' cabin. A couple of them greeted us with revolvers. They told us we were the first ones ever to find their cabin, but the next day they told the rangers of their 'ape man' story."

Break Lock on Safe Cabinet; Thieves Get $70

Police Tuesday were without tangible clues to the thieves who early Sunday morning broke into the office of The S. Monroe and Son Company, contractors, opposite the Garfield school on Galin street, and forced an opening to a safe cabinet. They made their getaway with about $70 in cash.

An investigation disclosed that the thief had gained entrance to the building by cutting a hole in the glass door and releasing the night latch.

After entering the building the thief used a heavy sledge hammer, which he found in the place, and knocked the combination off the safe cabinet.

Chief Arthur said today that he was working on several good clues. The thieves in their hurry to get away overlooked $150 in an envelope in a drawer which was unlocked. The safe cabinet was ruined by the thieves.

Intercity Chamber of Commerce To Boost Ohio Valley Is Suggested in Rotary Report

IRONTON, O., July 22.—The report of the Inter-City Rotary committee, appointed to devise means for advertising the Ohio Valley, presented its report at the Monday meeting of the Rotary club.

The committee recommended the creation of an Inter-City Chamber of Commerce as the first step in the campaign.

The proposal was immediately approved by the local club and if the Portsmouth, Ashland and Huntington clubs give their approval the matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the committee, to be held at Ashland, Ky., on July 28.

The directors of the chambers of commerce of the four cities will be invited to this meeting. The full report of the committee follows:

Your committee on Inter-City advertising has a deep conviction that this work is of great importance by reason of the wonderful opportunity for good which it represents.

"To sell others, we must first sell ourselves," therefore the first object should be to Broaden the knowledge of our own people with regard to the natural resources of this district, and its manufacturing, commercial and residential advantages.

This will increase contentment and happiness and foster the "booster" spirit for the district as well as for the home town. It will develop that recognition of a community of interests which is the first step toward community of action.

The next objective should be to—Promote a hearty spirit of goodwill and co-operation between the citizens and business interests of our tri-state region.

One Man Badly Hurt; Police Soon Quelled Trouble; Three Showmen Arrested

As the result of a free for all fight which started over an argument at the show grounds at Sixteenth and Shaw streets, about noon today three men giving their names as Howard Ingram, 28, Enoch Butcher, 49, and Thomas Allen, 40, are in the city jail facing charges of assault and battery.

Another man, R. W. Amerson, 43, head of the Portsmouth Coca Cola Co., is in bad shape at his home, 1139 Fourth street.

According to witnesses the trouble started when Amerson attempted to drive his truck through the front entrance to the grounds to unload some Coca Cola which had been ordered.

The showmen claim that the fight did not start until Amerson picked up a pop bottle and hit Ingram over the head with it. Then they say a number of local men and circus hands clashed in the melee and a free for all right resulted. Amerson was badly beaten up and was bleeding from wounds on his face and on his head where he says he was struck by a pair of pliers.

Police were called to quell the near-riot and Chief Rome Arthur, Deputy Keyser and N. E. W. De- tebeck, Leslie and Pratt answered the call and made arrests. Amerson was in such bad shape that he was removed to Hemphill hospital first and then to a physician's office. After his wounds were dressed he was removed to his home.

Two two-inch scalp wounds were the most serious. One cut was on the back of his head and the other over the left temple. At first it was thought that he sustained a fractured skull.

The men who were arrested in connection with the affair will answer charges in Municipal court Wednesday at one o'clock. Amerson claims he told the men he had permission from the manager of the shows to drive into the grounds.

The trouble drew a huge crowd to the scene and for a while it looked like a real riot was brewing, but when three arrests were made all danger passed.

What's This? Sydney Strange Pats a Real Snowball Into Shape

(SYDNEY STRANGE) It was 26 in Portsmouth today. We skidded over a slippery concrete pavement and shivered with cold. Heavy snow surrounded us and there was frost on the party we discovered they looked rosy too. A snowball fight might help us to get warmed up, B-r-r-r—20 is some cold!

Every word of this tale is true, but it didn't happen on Government Square. The coldest place we could find today was in the ice room at the Stockham Cold Storage Plant.

A snowball came whizzing through the air and broke just at our feet. "Bad aim," we called and prepared to wash the enemy's face with snow, then thought better of it and ate the snowball. Six degrees below freezing, and we could feel our nose growing red, and upon looking at the other members of the party we discovered they looked rosy too. A snowball fight might help us to get warmed up, B-r-r-r—20 is some cold!

Davis' Speech To Be Precedent In Brevity

DARK HARBOR, ISLESBORO, MAINE, July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—A precedent in brevity is the goal of John W. Davis, in the preparation of his address accepting the Democratic presidential nomination. His idea now is to cover the field generally with emphasis on the more important issues of the day, such as honesty in government, foreign affairs, taxes and tariff and farm relief. The occasion requires the discussion of so many different subjects that Mr. Davis cannot make his speech as brief as he would like.

Hughes And Mitchell Tied As The First Tourney Closes

Well the first tournament is now over and it ended with Hughes and Mitchell tied. They played a series of seven games to decide the winner, the result of which is told below.

W. Thompson, a cellar man showed all the old-timers how to throw ringers, making 27 while Doll was next with 20.

That was about all that happened in the regular tournament, with the exception that both Mitchell and Hughes lost one game.

In a series of 7 games between the winners, Mitchell drew first blood and won the first game, 21-19. Mitchell made 16 ringers this game. Hughes won the second one, 21-20. Hughes gaining in strength, won the third by a score of 21-16. Mitchell comes back out of a trance and makes Hughes 21-15. Mitchell made 17 ringers this game. In this game they had four ringers on the peg three straight times.

The pace begins to tell on Mitchell and he loses the next one, 21-10. And the deciding game, 21-18. In the six games Hughes made 66 ringers and Mitchell 63. Thus finished one of the hardest fought horseshoe tournaments ever staged. Hughes was high in games won, with 42 tournament and 4 extra games, making a total of 46 won and 21 lost.

Mitchell scored with 42 regular and 2 extra games, making a total of 44 won and 13 lost. Doll third with 40 won and 11 lost. Hughes was also high in ringers with 427. Mitchell second with 417. Doll third with 416. Hughes was high in points, with 1029. Mitchell second with 1003. Doll third with 993.

Mitchell has but one record which Hughes cannot touch and that is this: During the tournament of 17 nights, he has won every series, that is two out of three from every man. The only defeat he has had was in the finals when Hughes won 4 out of 7.

Other averages will appear in the papers later. Watch for them.

A committee consisting of Doll, Marlowe, Higgins and Mitchell will meet at Doll's on Robinson Avenue, Tuesday evening. The purpose of this meeting is for the new two-man tournament. If you haven't entered and expect too, get your name to one of the above at once.

Results:
Court 1—Mitchell won 2 out of 3 from Gardner. High man Mitchell, 23 ringers and 63 points.

Court 2—Higgins won 2 out of 3 from Massie. High man Higgins, 16 ringers and 40 points.

Court 3—Hughes won 2 out of 3 from Kitchen. High man Hughes, 25 ringers and 62 points.

Court 4—Marlowe won 2 out of 3 from Marlowe. High man Marlowe, 13 ringers and 50 points.

Court 5—Cline won 2 out of 3 from W. Thompson. High man Thompson, 27 ringers and 50 points.

Court 6—Crabtree won 3 straight from Craig. High man Crabtree, 21 ringers and 63 points.

Court 7—Doll won 3 from Mitchell. High man Doll, 25 ringers and 63 points.

Court 8—Parr won 3 from Frank. High man Parr, 22 ringers and 61 points.

Court 9—Rheinfrank won 3 straight from P. Thompson. High man Rheinfrank, 22 ringers and 61 points.

The new two-man tournament will start Tuesday night.

A short meeting will be held after the games are pitched. Everybody stay, because the dues will be decided at this time.

JACKSON, O., July 22.—Stockholders of the Standard Sing company met here today to take steps to rebuild their plant, which was completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. It was located on the Beaver Pike, one mile from this city. The origin of the fire is unknown. The plant had been idle.

The plant was owned and operated by the company, which has its main offices in Youngstown.

A. A. Bechley, president; W. H. Kiley, secretary-treasurer, and W. H. Bliss, vice-president and general manager, all of Youngstown, are officers of the concern.

The main plant building and mess hall, separate frame buildings, were totally destroyed by flames, which were discovered at 12:40 o'clock Sunday morning by Charles Mercer, night watchman. Mercer had gone through the entire plant on his regular rounds a short time before. He says he passed through the north-west corner on the ground floor of the main building, the spot where the fire broke out, at about 12:10 o'clock. Reaching the dining hall he heard a slight noise and looking saw the flames working within the walls of the main building. So rapidly did the flames make headway that the plant was beyond aid before it could reach the scene.

Estimates of the loss vary from $125,000 to $150,000. Only $30,000 is covered by insurance. The plant had been in operation since June, 1917, and employed 12 men. Production averaged 12 carloads a day, but

Wellston Man Sent To Pen

JACKSON, O., July 22.—In common pleas court Earl Talbert, of Wellston, was sentenced to a term in the Ohio penitentiary from one to five years for manufacturing liquor. He has twice before been fined for possessing liquor and worked his way out of full payment of the fine.

The sentence was given as a punishment and not as a hope of reforming him. A fine of $500 was also attached, but it has not been collected.

Clara Weston, Earl's mother, was also arraigned, charged with possessing liquor. The officers found a quart of liquor in her sewing machine, but she protested with many tears and sundry affirmations that she knew nothing of it. She said Earl hid it there without her knowledge and that she did not know he was making liquor in her house.

FAILURE OF DAVES PLAN WOULD INVITE CHAOS
LONDON, July 22.—Failure of the Daves reparations settlement plan, "would invite chaos," Charles Evans Hughes, the American secretary of state declared here last night in an address at the Pilgrims dinner.

"You may count upon our interest and assistance in the necessary measures to assure the economic rehabilitation of Europe," Hughes said.

"It does not matter that this aid is not given by the government. Without wishing to say anything controversial on this occasion I may give it as my conviction that had we attempted to make America's contribution to the present plan of adjustment, a governmental matter, we should have been involved in a hopeless debate and there would have been no adequate action. We should have been beset with demands, objections and instructions. This is not the way to make an American contribution to economic revival."

Remarkable tributes to Mr. Hughes were paid by the Duke of Connaught, who presided and the Earl of Balfour, who said the secretary had provided a new understanding between Great Britain and the country across the Atlantic, its people and government.

AT GROCERS EVERYWHERE

Save the Children from Goiter

When Dr. Robert Oleson, Surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, conducted a survey among school children in Cincinnati a few months ago it was found that 15,751 boys and girls had thyroid trouble, or goiter. Similar conditions exist throughout all of Ohio, because this State is in the goiter region where there is a lack of iodine in the plant life and water supply.

Commenting on this situation, the daily Times-Star, Cincinnati, issue of May 14, 1924, published this paragraph:

"As the amount of iodine necessary to the maintenance of thyroid equilibrium may be transferred through the medium of table salt, which, next to water, is the most common article of food, it has been recommended to the Cincinnati Board of Health that all table salt used in the community be prepared in this manner."

You can now obtain MULKEY'S IODINE SALT at your grocers. Use it every day, for cooking and on the table. No difference in taste or color. Put up in two-pound round cartons with pouring spout.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—As you have helped others, I am coming to you for advice. I am so unhappy. It seems like everything makes me unhappy. I always have the blues and I try to be happy and cheerful, but I get so discouraged. My temper gets the best of me and I always am sorry afterwards. What can I do to be happy? A dear friend told me to try to make others happy and I would be happy. I can't do anything right. Thanks for your advice.

DISCOURAGED LEONA.
First of all, you had better see a physician and let him give you a thorough examination. Then take the treatment he prescribes. If you are all right physically, then you should think less of yourself and begin to consider others. Make yourself cheerful, and find ways in which you may give help to others. If you are an employed woman, you should try to become so engrossed in your work that nothing would let you think of your condition. Take every opportunity to do something to make another happy. However little the deed, it will help and make you feel good to know you helped. Offer your service in all things, even if you have to stretch a point to do it. Have regular sleeping and eating hours if at all possible. Look always on the bright side and in time you will just naturally be happy.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl of fourteen and just recently got a pair of glasses. Every time I wear them they give me a headache. Should they do that, or maybe they don't fit my eyes. Tell me how to take cherry stains out of a dress. READER.

The glasses evidently do not fit your eyes. Take them to an optician and let him refit them. They will surely give you a headache if they don't fit.
To remove the stain, pour boiling water through the stain until it disappears.

Dear Dolly—As you have helped so many others, we are coming to you for help. We are two girls, 17 and 18 years of age. Would like to go to horseback riding, and we want to know where we can rent riding suits and hats. And what kind of silks should we wear? Dolly, if a girl doesn't want to dance with a fellow, what does she tell him, and if she does want to dance with him, what does she say when he asks her to dance?
IGNORANCE.
There is no place that I know of where you can rent such clothes. They are expensive and cooler than woolen ones, and may be worn with a skirt-waist and sleeveless sweater or jacket. It is well to wear shoes with leather puttees or oxfords may be worn with heavy woolen socks pulled up over the leg of the knickerbockers.
Men usually ask for dances before the dance begins. If you don't care to accept, about the only thing to do to be tactful is to tell him you have that time engaged. If you wish to accept, tell him you would be glad to dance and tell him which dance he may have.

S. E. M.—Put yourself in his place. What would you do? It seems to be puzzling a lot of persons, and that is where I can't help you out.

Dear Dolly Wise—I want to ask you who in Columbus should I tell about someone making moonshine. I don't know just who I should tell.

WANT TO KNOW.
Report to Sheriff Harry Dunham and he will take care of the case. You can reach him over the local telephone. It isn't necessary to tell anyone in Columbus.

Miss Wise—I picked my meat last fall and put salt-peter in the brine. Instead of taking the meat out and smoking it, I left it in the brine. I can't get this taste or odor out of the meat when I use it. Could you tell me some way of getting it out, so I can use it? OFFICE.

A READER.
The meat should be soaked overnight in cold water. In the morning pour the water off and replace with fresh cold water. Put on stove and bring to the boiling point. Pour off and cover meat again with fresh cold water. Boil for a half hour, then pour off and cover with hot water to cook.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — ON AN ICEBERG

The Eskimo youngster shouted something and the sled dogs started to run. Flip ran alongside of the sled, barking. There were no lines for Jack to hold with which to direct the Eskimo dogs so he just held on to the side of the sled. Slowly the dogs began to pull away from the sailors.

Although the sailors had been running and sliding along in order to keep up with Jack, the dogs were able to travel too fast for them. Jack to looked back and waved. "Come on," he shouted. And the sailors shouted for him to stop the dogs. Jack shouted "stop" but the dogs kept on going.

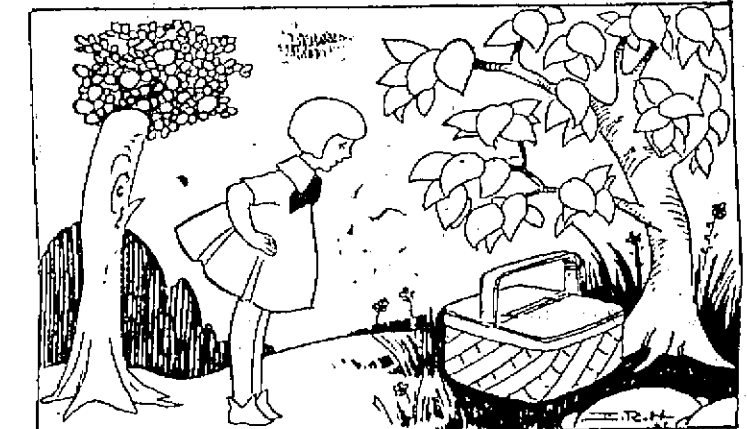

In the meantime the Eskimo father had told one of the sailors where to go for real ice fishing. So this sailor shouted to Jack, "when you come to the three little Eskimo huts, stop the dogs or else fall off the sled." Jack laughed and shouted back that he would do that. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

A PICNIC AT HAPPY GO LUCKY PARK

"Why, somebody's left a basket here," she said.

After Mrs. Woodchuck decided to keep her sons, Wally and Willy, home for the summer, the next thing was to find things for them to do.

And my, but they did love picnics! So one day she said, "Boys, we're going to have a picnic. How would you like that?"

"Fine!" cried all the little woodchucks. "Just fine. Where is it going to be?"

"At Happy Go Lucky Park," said their mother.

I know you'll be surprised at that because the last time Mrs. Woodchuck went to Happy Go Lucky Park she vowed up and down that she never would go back again. But then the days got so hot and Happy Go Lucky Park was so cool that she changed her mind.

"Horry for, Happy Go Lucky Park!" cried all the little woodchucks.

So Mrs. Woodchuck made a chocolate cake and three kinds of sandwiches and ice cream and a meat loaf and salad and fixed deviled eggs and everything, and put it all in a great big basket.

And off they started. "Good morning, Mrs. Woodchuck," said Nick when he saw them coming. "Let me help you with your basket."

"I don't care if I do," panted Mrs. Woodchuck, for the day was warm and her basket was heavy with goodies.

So Nick took the basket and hid it under some bushes. Mister Woodchuck was to come in the evening in time for supper.

"Do you think it is safe there?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck. "I would hate to have it stolen."

"Sure," said Nick. "Don't worry any more about it."

Mrs. Woodchuck hunted up a swing and got out her knitting and watched the boys.

Wally and Willy and Woolly Woodchuck had the time of their lives. First they played in the sandpile for awhile and made tunnels and mountains and bridges and forts.

Then they slid down the sliding board about 50 times a piece.

Next they went in wading in a little puddle pond.

And they all got a ride on the merry-go-round and everything. All this time something was happening to Mrs. Woodchuck's picnic basket and this was it.

When Nick put the basket under the bushes he knew that a pair of greedy eyes belonged to Reddy Fox, and you may be sure that Mister Fox licked his chops when he saw such a gorgeous meal not 10 steps away, and all his for the taking. "Um, yum!" he grinned. "I always did love picnics. I'll wait until everybody goes away and then I'll feast."

But just when he was slipping quietly one step at a time toward the basket, Nancy happened along.

"Why, somebody's left a basket here here," she said. "I'll have to put it where it's safe."

And she picked it up and walked off.

I'll tell you the rest tomorrow. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE JEWELLER (CASHIET)

I suppose that the same quality of imagination which lifts me above the rest of those whom society is pleased to call outlaws, is responsible for the feeling of indignation which possesses me when I look upon any brutality. I am not a matter-of-fact, I am an artist. And the artist, more keenly in tune with what ought to be than the material-minded man of business, resents any imperfection, whether it be of the body or of the spirit.

And here were both! The hunchback, imperfect of body—and the superstitious, imperfect of spirit, who stroked the hump.

They were standing on the curb at the corner of Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue, waiting for a break in traffic which would permit them to cross the street. I was doing the same thing. I had walked from the same little apartment, which at the moment I was maintaining on Central Park West, across town on my way to attend an auction, on Madison Avenue. It was a balmy spring day, the sort of morning which after a blustery March revives one's faith in the miracles of Nature. Exactly as a pretty girl revives one's faith! I had felt that my faith had been revived several times this morning. It seemed to me that all the lovely girls of the universe had been placed in Central Park and on the Avenue this morning, to tantalize me with thoughts of what might have been.

I, who hated the world, loved it this morning. Yet it was the hopeless love of one who knows that the simple joys are denied to him. I felt a moisture welling beneath my lids; my eyes were flicking. Then I laughed at my sentimentality. I had made my choice months ago when, after years of desperate struggle along the paths of honesty, I had given up the unequal battle and become one of those who prey.

Suffice it that no young girl would ever be harmed by me—and even knowing me might some day cause her irreparable damage. As I have said in one of my previous memoirs, like Kipling's cat, I walk alone.

So, because I was in a softened mood, as well as because I am an artist and a gentleman, I felt a surge of pity for the hunchback, and a surge of wrath against the man who stood beside him. For this latter person rubbed the cripples' hump.

Oddly enough, although the touch seemed none too gentle, the cripple did not resent the action. Perhaps, poor devil, he had become so used to the brutalities of his fellows, that his spirit had lost its powers of resentment.

A year or so ago, when I had been crushed by the brutalities of life, I would have felt no indignation at such a sight. I had then been unable to become angry at indignities heaped upon me. For this latter person rubbed the

myself. Moralists would tell you that I had since lost my soul, but I tell you that I had found it. A year ago, an honest man, I would have sneered cynically; today, a thief, I took the long by the collar and threw him across the sidewalk.

The north and south-bound traffic halted as the lights flickered on the tower down the Avenue; the policeman blew his whistle and waved the pedestrians to pass over. It was an opportunity, and as my bewildered victim climbed unsteadily to his feet, muttering threats, I merged with the human tide and gained the doors of a hotel across the street, slipped through its reception rooms and came out upon Fifty-ninth street, certain that I had avoided pursuit, and not worrying about future recognition. As for the hunchback, he had not glanced my way.

By extreme caution, I eliminated accidents. Before I entered the auction-rooms which were my destination, I glanced over my shoulder to make certain that no offensively right-minded person was guiding upon my trail the man whom I had knocked down. If a policeman intervened in a street-brawl in which I was concerned, it is conceivable that I might be asked my means of livelihood, a question of obvious embarrassment.

So I entered the auction-rooms, and took a chair in the rear. Half an hour passed before I made a bid, and then I offered fifty dollars for a mediocre tapestry. I acquired it at eighty-five, gave a check to the attendant, ordered the thing sent to my apartment, and settled back in my chair to watch the rest of the proceedings. I do not think it advisable that I should be merely a spectator at auctions; a connoisseur, even though in a suit was an achievement, an instant standing. And my acquisition of the tapestry proved that I had fair taste, along with probably modest means.

Of course I had not come here solely to purchase. Indeed, the tapestry would hardly conform to the color-scheme of my rooms. Once again I felt the sentiment of springtime. I wanted a home, permanence. I wanted a place where I could put things that I had acquired for the joy of acquisition, and because they belonged in that home. Deliberately I dismissed the dangerous thoughts.

No man can be a success in business if he devotes his office hours to sentimental moonings; these were my office hours, and I was here on business. For where in the world is one more likely to have opportunity to see and study those possessed of wealth than in an auction-room where articles of tremendous value are put upon the block? And the International Auction Company catered to a clientele of millionaires. Such bargains as my bit of tapestry only occurred when they were minor parts of a great collection.

Nearly everything else was priced in the thousands, and did not interest me, although occasionally I noted the names and addresses of the purchasers. And then came the Gerald jewel-box. Gerald was a multimillionaire of vulgar antecedents and taste who had died a few years ago. Six months later, his widow had followed him, and they had left heirs who chose to rid themselves of the miscellaneous collection which the Gerald had acquired. I could not blame the heirs, for most of the Gerald possessions were more suited to the walls or cabinets of a museum than to a private home.

And when the auctioneer held up a golden box, studded with jewels, I felt embarrassment for him, compelled as he was to declare that this article was a work of art. It was about nine inches long, six inches wide and four inches deep; and workmanship, even a high degree of craftsmanship, had been expended upon it. But the thing was too gorgeous, too flamboyant, and one readily believed the auctioneer's statement, the late Mr. Joseph Gerald had him self superintended the designing and the manufacture of the box. One also believed, without hesitation that it had cost the multimillionaire over ninety thousand dollars. Certainly the precious stones that studded it were worth at least fifty thousand.

The bidding opened at ten thousand dollars, and progressed rapidly to twenty-five thousand, confined to men whom I intuitively knew were dealers. Then another man took a hand. His clothing alone stamped him for what he was, a newly enriched vulgarian. For his coat was cut in the extreme of Broadway fashion; his neckwear was an offense to a gentleman, and the solitary diamond that gleamed from its silken folds must have weighed a dozen carats. He had not been born to money; long acquaintance with it would have inculcated in him a few, at least, of the fundamentals of correct attire. His nose was a mere blob, piglike. His eyes, peeping over rolls of fat, were also porcine. His forehead slanted back, and his heavy jaws and jutting chin made him animal-like. Another of the filthy profiteers who had grown fat upon the sufferings of the world.

Another of those persons who had risen from the depths during civilization's great convulsion.

I could picture the wife of this man; as loathsome as himself, doubtless. Also I could picture the priceless jewelry that would go into that box. For if a man would give sixty-five thousand dollars, it was knocked down to him at that price—for a place in which to put his jewels, what were the jewels themselves worth?

The mere thought made me dizzy. If I could get my hands upon that box when it was filled, the fancies that spring had put into my mind today might be possible to me. One of those young girls whose eyes had seemed inviting on the Avenue today—

"Sold to Mr. Marcus Anderson," said the auctioneer.

Slumped down in my chair, fuming, I hated toward Anderson. I straightened up when I heard his name. For there were few people who had not heard of Anderson. He was supposed to have become, during the war, one of the richest men in the world. My appraisal of him had been absolutely correct, and my vanity was tickled that even in so slight a matter, I had not erred.

I watched him go to a desk and write a check. My eyes followed him as he came down the aisle and passed through the door. He came so close to me that the skirt of his coat brushed my knees. Mr. Anderson, as he climbed into his enormous town-car, did not know how nearly he had escaped a violent attack.

CONSTIPATED? BEWARE OF INDICAN

the poison sign of constipation, warn health authorities—
What to do.

THE danger of constipation is its poison, warn physicians. This poison is pumped into every little muscle and every little joint in your body. Beware! for it has the same effect as Carbofic Acid or any other poison.

Do you dare to make a test to prove this? Three out of four constipated men and women under such a test show the presence of INDICAN, and Indican is the sign doctors look for to find out if your blood is poisoned.

Carter's Little Liver Pills, unlike ordinary laxatives, not only "physic" the stomach, liver and intestines quickly, but also drive the INDICAN away.

Make This Test: Have analysis made of your specimen, and if the chemist reports the presence of INDICAN—or if taste of bad stomach, no appetite, foul breath and sour taste—immediately start taking Carter's Liver Pills. Next, have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears. Now your clear, bright complexion, free from pimples and blackheads, comes back—you can EAT like a kid, and you feel FIT in most cases.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts in a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

Davis Declares He Is Fit To Fight Wildcats

DARK HARBOR, ISLESBORO, Me., July 22.—(By the A. P.)—Declaring himself fit to fight his weight in wildcats, if need be, John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, got back to work today, thinking out phrases of his acceptance address and attending to an accumulated pile of correspondence.

After a morning in his temporary studio on Seven Hundred Lane Island, Mr. Davis called it a day and with Mrs. Davis came over to Islesboro to have lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Polk at their summer home, Frank B. Polk, Washington, D. C., president of the Associated Press and Mrs. Polk, who arrived here today in their yacht, also were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Polk.

Mr. Davis had delivered to him today copies of the Democratic Republican and La Follette platforms, as well as the keynote addresses at the Democratic convention at New York, and at the two conventions at Cleveland.

"Have you read the Democratic platform?" Mr. Davis was asked at his daily conference with newspaper correspondents. "I have," he replied with a smile. "I won't be misquoted on that."

The nominee added that he also had read the Republican and La Follette platforms, but explained that he was not prepared to take a civil service examination on either.

Without having fully mapped out his acceptance address, Mr. Davis has it in mind now to make about 40 minute speeches at Clarksburg, W. Va., August 21, in reply to the formal address of notification which is to be made by Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana. As a general rule, Mr. Davis prefers merely to chart his address and fill in as he proceeds with delivery. He realizes, however, that this occasion cannot be fulfilled on that occasion and so will reduce this address to writing after he returns to New York.

Darrow was chief counsel for the McNamara brothers in their trial at Los Angeles 13 years ago for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times. The trial had been in progress for some time with both state and defense fighting for every possible advantage, when Darrow suddenly entered a plea of guilty.

The taking of testimony, immediately ended and the McNamara's were sentenced to the penitentiary.

Republicans to Conduct Nation-Wide Campaign

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(By the A. P.)—Intention of Republican leaders to conduct a nation-wide rather than sectional campaign in behalf of Coolidge and Davies was announced here last night by William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"We do not propose to seek support in one section of the country through concentrated and obvious effort and to lack national appeal and viewpoint. Confers With Coolidge Arriving here early today, Mr. Butler had a brief conference with President Coolidge at the White House and then went to the national headquarters where he engaged in a series of political discussions with party leaders.

The morning conference between the president and Chairman Butler was described as non-political, but the chairman returned to the White House tonight for dinner and a lengthy discussion of campaign plans, including such subjects as the notification ceremonies for Mr. Coolidge here Aug. 14 and the number of addresses to be made by the president during the campaign.

Some indications were given today that the president might make more speeches than originally had been planned, possibly eight to ten in rather widely separated cities, but it was declared flatly that no final decision had been reached as to the number and not even a tentative decision as to the cities.

Davies to Bear Brunt
Several leaders from the nearby states of West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware conferred with Mr. Butler today and others will see him tomorrow. It is the chairman's present plan to leave Wednesday for Chicago to look after affairs at the main headquarters there and to confer with Charles E. Davies, the Republican vice presidential nominee, regarding his participation in the campaign. Mr. Davies is expected to bear the brunt of the campaign so far as speaking is concerned.

Mr. Butler in his statement, after announcing the selection of Mr. Hicks as chairman of the party's eastern headquarters, said in part: "I am almost ready to make an prediction, namely that the November election of this year will show a larger total participation than any election we have ever had. I anticipate that not less than 36 million of men and women will vote. The signs seem to be in the air and I have every expectation that President Coolidge will gain by this increased total vote."

INVESTIGATE DROWNING
AKRON, July 22.—Police and county authorities today were investigating the drowning of Vassilina Lucania, 35, of Akron and Ralph Piro, 30, of Barberton in the old Ohio Canal at Buckhorn near here. A raft, captioned when they were crossing the canal with four other men. The other four were rescued.

COLUMBUS MAN AND BRIDE HURT IN CRASH
SUDBURY, ONT., July 22.—C. D. Hawkins, Columbus, O., was probably fatally injured and his bride suffered severe lacerations about the head and face when their car collided with another on the Sudbury-North Bay highway tonight, motorists arriving here reported. The couple were on their honeymoon.

Tells of Violent Dizzy Spells

Local carpenter admits that "DRECO" was only remedy that brought relief. Declares gas on stomach and pains in joints and limbs also disappeared. Appetite improved. Sleeps fine now.

Hundreds of local folks who have tried medicine after medicine are quick to realize that Dreco is different and unique, came in Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store every day and tell the Dreco man how this natural plant and herb remedy has helped them after everything else has failed.

Mr. Oscar Coriell, R. F. D. No. 3, Sciotoville, Ohio, a well-known carpenter tells the following story of his relief by Dreco.

"For years I have been a sufferer with my stomach, having a constant gnawing pain in my left side. Gastric is accompanied by violent dizzy spells that left me faint and weak, also troubled me and my limbs and joints ached all the time. I had no appetite and slept very little and spots were always dancing before my eyes. I tried everything but nothing seemed to help me."

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn. — "I was badly run-down and had pains in my side and back; sometimes I couldn't hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-months-old baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."

Bankers Demand Evacuation of The Ruhr

Lamont, Norman, Montagu, governor of the Bank of England, and French and Belgian financiers conferred until after midnight with Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden about the proposed loan, the American and British bankers pointing out that the loan proposed by the conference are entirely inadequate.

It is virtually admitted that the Wall Street and Threemorton street observers at the conference have flatly rejected the report of the first committee too as to safeguarding investors in the German loan against a repetition of the Ruhr invasion.

Nevertheless, it is denied that a crisis has occurred, as the authorities involved hope for an early solution of the situation by means of a revision of the report. If this should prove unsuccessful, however, the crisis will be a fact.

Conferences were continued today between bankers and experts in an effort to find a formula to present to the plenary session when the report of the first committee of disapproval by the bankers was foreseen when the British and Americans insisted that the first committee's report be regarded as a recommendation merely and not as a final agreement.

was enacted. No tariff act ever received such overwhelming denunciation as the platform makes of Madison Square burling at the Fordyce-McCumber law.

The Democratic position, stated in a very few words, at the end of the long diatribe against Republicanism, probably has been outlined by the country. It reads as follows:

"We declare our party's position to be in favor of a tax on commodities entering the customs houses that will promote effective competition, protect against monopoly and at the same time produce a fair revenue for the support of the government."

The tariff question is likely to bulk larger in the coming campaign than most persons supposed. It will do this because it has been subject of the Democrats with the entire subject of taxation and will be so treated by both parties. And while as stated, the two parties have closed together on tariff principles, the manner of applying these principles affords much room for discussion and divergence of views.

The Democrats are going to claim that the farmers have been discriminated against for the benefit of the existing manufacturers and will use the old cry that the Republicans have gotten over the old idea of a "New England tariff."

Persons close to Mr. Davis say that his speech of acceptance will make the tariff issue clearer than it has ever been before.

Rome Defeats Local Specials

At Rome, Sunday, Littleton, with good support, easily defeated the Student Specials of Portsmouth, by the score of 10 to 5. The feature of the game was the playing of Sparks on first base. He made four dazzling stops in succession. The game was closely contested until the seventh when Littleton broke up the game. Clark, for the visitors, worked hard, and with better in-field support, would have turned in a good game. Rome plays Buena Vista Sunday at Buena Vista. The box score:

Bible Students' Association Plans Whirlwind Missionary Campaign

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Plans for a whirlwind missionary campaign over territory near Columbus were being made today by the International Bible Students' Association which is holding its annual convention here.

Thursday has been set aside for special field service and in lieu of the customary meetings, all of the more than 10,000 delegates here will scatter themselves over territory extending for forty miles around Columbus and seek to implant the seeds of their doctrine in more than 60,000 homes.

Preliminary arrangements call for the use of the large number of automobiles brought here by delegates in carrying the "missionaries" into the field to tell of the millennium they believe is at hand.

Some attention was paid by delegates today to the statement made yesterday by Judge J. E. Rutherford, the International president, that he believed prohibition to be the "scheme of the devil" and a "wrong influence." Judge Rutherford said he believed it to be impossible to reform by legislation and that an "appeal to reason" and "the endorsement of men with righteousness" so that they would have no desire for alcoholic liquor was the only way to solve the prohibition problem. He said he did not believe it right to dictate what any person should do.

Judge Rutherford apparently had the same idea in mind when he answered the question of a delegate who questioned the propriety of bobbed hair. "It is not only not immoral but apparently convenient," he said, adding that he believed that women who desired bobbed hair should have no hesitancy in adopting the style.

Actual sessions today brought further discussion of the doctrines of the association, chief among which is the expectancy within a few years of the coming of a "reign of righteousness" during which no one will die and universal happiness will prevail.

C. C. Binkley, manager of the Central European office of the association at Zurich, Switzerland, was the day's chief speaker.

Little Bessie Curmuto, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. (The little girls, Mildred and Tillie, had not seen the snake, and Bessie was the only one who heard the warning rattle. She crippled the reptile with a rock and then fought it with stones until she had killed it. The snake had ten rattles and a button.

ties in theory so very far apart. There is no doubt but that the business interests of the country have united the new Democratic views with a great deal of satisfaction. Democratic victories in the past have been looked forward to as upsetting to domestic industry built up on a fairly high tariff foundation. The new Democratic theory that production shall be guarded on a fair competitive basis removes one of the bugaboes of the old campaign.

Under Democratic rule tariff no longer would be levied for revenue only but would be fixed on a basis of "fair revenue" for the government and the assurance of proper competitive standards for American production.

The idea of a competitive tariff is not entirely a new one. Proudhon, a French socialist, who came from a sugar-producing state, have for sometime been advocating the competitive idea as a means of meeting Republican protectionism, which for so long has had such a strong appeal in both industrial and agricultural sections. Mr. Barnett has argued with his brother Democrats that a competitive tariff is in line with Democratic policies through all the ages of American history. The word competition has a popular ring to it. The word "protection" carries with it, on the other hand, the Democrats say, the idea of coddling and protecting beyond the lives of reason. They will continue to herald "protection" because of this fact.

Mr. Davis is expected to go further in the exposition of his tariff ideas than the party platform. He will also express himself more directly on the subject. The platform contains the competitive declaration, but buries it under a grand denunciation of the Fordyce-McCumber act which is scoured as "the most unjust, unscientific and dishonest tariff measure ever enacted in our history."

The Democrats further assailed the act as "class legislation," which deprives all the people for the benefit of the few, as "heavily increasing the cost of living," as neutralizing agriculture, corrupting the government, fostering paternalism and, in the long run, failing to benefit "the very interests for which it

Ohio Leads in Building and Loan Associations

(By the Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The annual report of H. F. Cellarius, of Cincinnati, national secretary of the United States League of Local Building and Loan Associations, read at the opening session of the 32nd annual convention here today, shows $598,408,927 was added to the assets of building and loan associations of the country during the last fiscal year with an increased membership of 388,730.

The report stated there are 10,744 building and loan associations in the United States, with a total membership of 7,292,880. The increase in membership during the last fiscal year was 3.8 per cent, while the increase in assets was a little less than 18 per cent.

Building and loan companies in the United States advanced more than $1,200,000,000 last year on mortgage security towards the building of homes throughout the country. "Assuming that the average loan made was about $3,500," Mr. Cellarius said, "our associations financed approximately 300,000 homes during the year."

Pennsylvania made the largest increase in assets during the last fiscal year with a total increase of $121,000,000. Ohio was second with an increase of $83,124,233. The greatest increase in membership during the past year was shown by Ohio, with 209,140 new members. Total membership of Ohio building and loan associations is now 1,375,968 and total assets are $648,160,960, the report stated.

Aged Wheeling Man Testifies

Finds Relief From Stomach and Kidney Troubles In Very Short Time

Mr. Henry Hoefer.

One of the most recent statements received regarding the new remedy, Ka-d-ol, now being introduced here, which certifies the claim made for this preparation, is a signed testimonial from Mr. Henry Hoefer, who lives at 924 Market street, Wheeling, W. Va.

Mr. Hoefer is seventy-five years old, and member of the G. A. R. He is a carpenter by trade, and is still actively engaged in his work. He said:

"I had been in poor health for a long time due to trouble with my stomach and kidneys. I had frequent attacks of indigestion after eating, which caused me a lot of distress and suffering. I never was able to sleep well, as I would wake up every hour or so during the night. To make matters worse, I had a severe hacking cough, which wracked me to pieces."

"I heard of Ka-d-ol and decided to give it a trial, although I was very skeptical, as nothing I had previously taken had done me any real good. I purchased a bottle, and am very glad that I did. I noticed immediate improvement, and now after taking a short treatment, I feel like a well man. My stomach trouble is decidedly better, and my kidneys have not bothered me at all of late. I sleep all night and get up rested. I can recommend Ka-d-ol very highly to any one suffering as I did."

Bogus Speed Cop Is Operating In Lawrence Co., Not Scioto

Recently a complaint was registered with Chief of Police Rome, Arthur by State authorities about alleged arrests made in Scioto county by a motorcycle officer, said to be using West Virginia license tags. An investigation was urged as the officials had received a letter from the State Roads Commissioner of West Virginia stating that several West Virginia motorists had been arrested by this officer and fined for speeding. Local authorities, after making an investigation, found that the officer was operating out of Ironston and not in Scioto county. Many local persons have also complained that they have been coerced into racing with this officer and then arrested and fined by him through Ironston courts. The report has been turned in to the State and action by them has been promised, Chief Arthur said Tuesday.

WILL OPEN RESTAURANT AND TEA ROOM IN THE MARTING PROPERTY ON SIXTH STREET

Within the next two months a restaurant and tea-room of a character not now found in Portsmouth is to be opened by two college girls in the brick house known as the Dr. P. W. Young property on Sixth street, just back of Marting Bros' store. The house has been leased by Martings to Miss Alice Willard of Tronton and Miss Eunice Kinsley of New Philadelphia, who plan to open there a restaurant that will compare with the Maramor of Columbus and other eating places of that quality.

Miss Willard is a graduate of Western College and will have supervision of the business end of the new venture. Miss Kinsley has had several years of experience in the teaching of domestic science and in the management of tea-rooms and caterers. It was while Miss Kinsley was teaching domestic science in the Tronton High School that the friendship with Miss Willard was formed which led to their business partnership.

Extensive improvements are being made on the property. New floors are being laid, partitions knocked out and walls redecorated. The new lessees plan to serve business men's clubs, luncheons, dinners, and cater to afternoon teas and bridge parties. The upstairs will be planned especially to meet the needs of hostesses who do not care to entertain in their own homes. The present plans provide for the serving of noonday luncheons, and evening dinners six days a week and one meal on Sunday, with the rooms open for afternoon tea and bridge every day except Sunday.

But Rompel and his wife escaped injury, for they are touring Europe now. Rompel, when in Joliet, "picks" three revolvers.

The Boston which left Boston for New York last night, was nosing her way cautiously southwest with a short distance off Point Judith, R. I., in a dense blanket of fog when the accident occurred.

The liner has a capacity of 900 passengers and is generally well fixed during the summer season. About 600 were aboard last night.

The other liner, suddenly out of the darkness and struck the Boston amidships, tearing a hole in her side.

Despite the confusion that followed immediately upon the crash, transferring of passengers to the tankers which was not badly damaged, began.

Life boats were lowered, the water being calm, and no serious panic ensued.

S. O. S. Appeals Fill The Night
Meanwhile the night was filled with "S. O. S." appeals and a coast guard cutter, three naval tugs and three of the big liners that ply between Boston and New York were rushing to the position reported by the Boston.

Because of the fog the rescue vessels could not safely approach too close to the stricken liner, for the waters all about were filled with life boats.

As for the Boston, her fires were drawn, which meant that to operate the big siren was missing, and the vessel's lights were dimmed. Afraid to push too close to the Boston, for fear of running life boats, the larger ships played their powerful searchlights on the water and toward the welcome circles of light, piercing the fog, the boats crews rowed.

The master and the radio operator stayed aboard the Boston and sent a warning to the rescue ships:

"Be careful of the small boats on our starboard side."

Around the Boston was Port Captain Charles T. Snow, commander of the Eastern Steamship Company's fleet.

The naval station at Newport sent the tug rail, Teal and Boboluk, while the coast guard cutter Acushnet which was on duty on "Tom Row" was early headed for the scene.

The Swift Arrow was bound from Fall River to San Francisco. Its course lay across that of the Eastern Steamship liner and the tanker struck the passenger steamer on the starboard side.

Lookouts on neither vessel observed the other until but a few yards separated them.

Immediately following the collision which threw passengers on the Boston into confusion, both vessels set up a wailing and shrieking of sirens while Captain Call took a hasty inventory of the damage and ordered the life boats manned.

Passengers Take To Boats
Passengers were ordered to the boats, many of them partly clad and were lowered over the side and rowed to the Swift Arrow.

The tanker could not accommodate all those who sought safety in flight from the Boston and many life boats paddled about, awaiting the rescue ships.

Soon the Boston's siren began to sound more and more faintly. When the first of the naval tugs arrived and asked the liner to keep sounding her siren the wireless operator replied that the power was gone. The steamer's lights had gradually gone out and only the feeble flicker of oil lanterns showed in the fog.

Work of picking up the passengers who were in the small boats was proceeded with caution.

Meanwhile the water was pouring in through a gaping hole in the Boston's side. It was feared she was sinking.

With the passengers apparently safely picked up the command was not a line to the Boston and took her in tow, heading for Newport, eight miles away.

Parents

"We went into the matter very thoroughly," Darrow said. "We argued amongst ourselves at times, but finally, at a conference of attorneys and members of the two families last Friday we decided there was only one thing to do—to plead guilty and accept whatever the court decided."

"Young Leopold's father was particularly affected. He wept like a little child, but he was brave and he gave his consent to the plea of guilty."

"Only parents of young men can realize the awful grief that came to these people when they realized that their sons were murderers and there was no use to fight for their freedom."

"When we told the parents that there was no hope—that their sons could not and should not go free—they were willing to place their sons at the mercy of the court. Our only hope is that the court will spare their lives; whether they are sentenced to 14 years or to life imprisonment is a small matter."

Darrow then related the scene in the county jail where the boys themselves were told that the fight had been ended—that no attempt should be made to set them free.

"We went to the jail," Darrow said, "and told the boys how matters stood, that their parents and their attorneys had decided the only thing to do was to plead guilty and let the court decide their fate."

"And I want to tell you that those boys accepted the idea without a whimper. They readily agreed to our plan. They showed no more emotion than when they calmly confessed killing the Franks."

Darrow was in conference with Benjamin Bachrach, chief assistant counsel. They were preparing to present arguments to the court against hanging Leopold and Loeb.

States Attorney Robert E. Crowe, meanwhile, reiterated his declaration that nothing short of the gallows would satisfy the prosecution.
"Leopold and Loeb are sane. They are guilty. They must hang, and they shall hang."

"That was his challenge. Crowe and his aides were gathering together their witnesses to support their plea for hanging."

POLITICAL

Now it seems certain that he will accept invitations to speak in at least a dozen cities in key positions over the country, as far as the northwest and perhaps one on the Pacific coast.

Whereas Republican managers before the nomination of Davis and the entrance of La Follette into the race regarded the midwest and northwest as the only real Coolidge weak spots, they now regard the entire nation as fighting ground. They concede that they must try and wrest the northwest from Davis. The Democrats intend to stage a desperate fight throughout the east, particularly in New York with its 45 electoral votes. They are counting on Governor Al Smith being prevailed upon to reconsider his decision not to run for re-election as governor of New York.

The East is not being overlooked by the Independents. Senator Wheeler, La Follette's running mate will open his nation-wide speaking trip in New York and La Follette is expected to make several speeches in the east.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN TO SUBMIT WAGE DISPUTE TO THE RAILROAD LABOR BOARD

CHICAGO, July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who had indicated they would disregard a formal subpoena to submit the wage controversy involving some ninety western railroads to the Railroad Labor Board arrived today to begin preliminary negotiations with members of the board for the formal opening of the case on Thursday.

L. G. Griffing, grand chief engineer of the engineers, and George B. Robertson, president of the firemen, were in conference here on a tentative program for the hearing of the controversy. Virtually every road west of Chicago, including all class "A" carriers are involved in the dispute.

The engine crafts, in consenting to submit the case to the labor board, are understood to have maintained the view that "a suspension of transportation" was not threatened by the disagreement, as suggested by the board in making public its determination to assume jurisdiction of the controversy.

Will It Wear
Half as Long as a Brick Pavement?

If it will, it is a good pavement, but not GOOD ENOUGH.

To be "good enough" to spend hard-earned tax money for, it should last as long as a brick pavement, cost no more in the beginning, and require as little for upkeep.

Brick pavements sometimes cost a little more in the beginning than the cheaper types, but they are the least expensive per square yard per year of service because they last so much longer and cost so much less for maintenance. That is TRUE economy.

RACELAND PONIES SHOW REAL SPEED OVER A MUDDY TRACK; REALIZE WINS ALLOWANCE STAKE RACE

LADIES PACK THE BIG PAVILION

(By C. J. SAVAGE)

RACELAND, KENTUCKY, July 22.—A muddy track prevailed at Raceland Monday due to a rain which set in early yesterday morning and lasted until after the noon hour. The oval stood after the drizzling rain better than last week as it was not near as heavy as when it rained upon the first time at the meeting. Just to make the day complete, another downpour came while the horses were at the post for the fifth race, but it was of short duration.

Monday was another Ladies' day and the members of the Fair sex did not hesitate to accept the invitation of the Raceland management to be its guests. The big grandstand again was filled to capacity, as were the boxes and the greater portion of the lawn in front of the stand.

It was just as well that the program did not bring out much in the way of class Monday, as the selling places that contested furnished good sport and the vast crowd was stirred to a high pitch of enthusiasm throughout the afternoon. The only race that did not have the claiming clause attached to it was the fifth, a two-year-old allowance affair over the distance of five furlongs, and it was captured by Realize, Tomie bred daughter of Hilarious-Erma, which races for Williams Brothers. She was cleverly ridden by Jockey Jake Heupel, who rated her off the early pace set by Agnes Call, but when he called upon her she responded nobly and drew away from her rivals, Agnes Call and Midnight Rose, which placed and show portions of the purse in the order named.

Gussie P. was the first horse to win three races at the meeting. She accomplished this feat when she triumphed in the third number Monday. Jockey Ivan Parke kept her on top throughout and she was never in danger.

Col. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farm Stable grabbed off two races Monday with Benmorecareful and Bye Bye. Their success was achieved in the first and last races, respectively. Trainer J. W. (Tex) Forman has his division of the Bradley establishment here in rare condition, and is winning more than his share of the races.

James Greene, Louisville, Ky., turfman, won a purse with Patrick Sarsfield, a shifty son of Peter Quince, Monday. He was ridden by Jockey Danny McAniff, who also hails from the Falls City.

Favorite players did not fare so well Monday as only two choices won—Benmorecareful and Realize.

Riding honors fell to Jockey E. Blind, who piloted Benmorecareful and Swift Water home in front.

Jockeys W. Kelsay and L. Lyke left for Saratoga. The former will ride for P. T. Chinn, while the latter will report to the first division of the Idle Hour Farm Stable which is quartered at the Spa in charge of Trainer H. J. Thompson.

George Barrett and Al Weinberg joined the part-time force at Raceland in the capacity of calculators Monday. They came from Windsor.

Charles Nolte, track superintendent at Latonia, was a first time visitor. "This is a wonderful racing plant," he said, "and it is bound to prove successful."

Jockey E. Smallwood came in from Maple Heights, O., and joined the riding colony here immediately.

Trainer J. W. (Tex) Forman Monday was advised by Colonel D. R. Bradley to accept no less than $25,000 for Bob Tail, winner of the Raceland Derby last Saturday. Previous to that time Bob Tail could have been purchased for $10,000. It appears as though he is destined to prove one of the stars of his age this year as he has just found his best form.

E. B. Webb, placing judge at Churchill Downs and Latonia was on hand for Monday's races. "This is a magnificent racing plant and I never saw its superior," was his comment when asked what he thought of Raceland.

According to present plans Trainer H. Webb will ship Black Gold to Latonia Tuesday and he will be given a few weeks rest. Then he will be put in active training in preparation for his coming clash with Epimard, the French crack. The proposed three horse race between Black Gold, Alwarood and Bob Tail, which it was planned to be staged on next Saturday, apparently fell through.

REDS, BY PLAYING UPHILL GAME WIN A REAL THRILLER FROM THE HAUGHTY N. Y. GIANTS, 8 TO 7

Pinelli's Triple Deciding Factor

CINCINNATI, July 22.—Cincinnati won one of the hardest fought battles of the season from New York Monday, 8 to 7, in eleven innings. Watson was knocked out of the box in the first round, but Nehf pitched well and Luque allowed a tie score in the seventh with a hit by his wildness and an error by Fritz. In the ninth New York scored three runs off May on three hits and an error by Roush, but the Reds tied it in their half on four hits, two passes and a wild pitch by Bentley. In the eleventh, the Giants scored a run on a sacrifice hit by Shorten, Frisch, Kelly, the first time Rixey had been scored upon in 34 innings. In the last half of the eleventh, Roush reached third on a pass, a balk by Jannard and an out. With two out, Kelly took his foot off the bag before receiving Jannard's pass, threw on Ponce's grandstand, which would have retired the side with a scoring. The error allowed Roush to score the tying run and then Pinelli on Ponce's error with a triple to right. Thirty-nine players took part in the game, the Reds using 20 and the Giants 18.

Home Searched; Liquor Found

IRONTON, O., July 22.—State prohibition officer Powell and Stroup, with Constables Sizemore and Geo. Wall, searched the home of Irvin Shore, 614 Lawrence street, and confiscated five cases of what they termed "high powered" home brew, and six quart bottles of red whiskey.

said to be of a Canadian brand. A vinegar container containing about half a pint of liquor was also taken in the raid.

The liquor, officers said, was found secreted under the floor of a bathroom, the cache being reached by means of a trap door in the floor.

The home brew was destroyed and the liquor taken to the county jail. Mr. Shore was not arrested, the officers informing him he would be notified when to appear and give bond. Charges of possessing "liquor" will be filed against him in common pleas court.

WINKEL'S OLD STORE

Continues to be a Rendezvous for

BARGAIN HUNTERS

Prices are selling our goods—we merely show them and wrap them up.

Indeed, prices are so low that some people seem to think we had as well give the goods away, and make a quick finish. For instance, one old lady remarked yesterday when being shown a piece of madras for 20c a yard, "Why, I can buy the same goods at Blaank's right here on Chillicothe St. for 35c." After leaving the store for an hour she returned and bought 20 yards. It had just dawned upon her that she was actually saving some money--$3.00 on that one purchase.

Stocks are going and going fast, but we still have oodles of the biggest bargains in Portsmouth--Come tomorrow and see.

Progressives to Campaign for Congressmen

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Determined to increase the strength of the insurgent bloc in the house and senate, those in charge of Senator La Follette's independent campaign for president, plan to let voters know, well in advance of election day, which congressional candidates they favor. Senators and representatives who have been in accord with La Follette's policies and are up for re-election, will be given "liberal" candidates in the field against members of the senate and house whom the followers of the Wisconsin senator classify as "reactionary."

Positive plans worked out for the campaign place endorsement of congressional candidates in the hands of the campaign committee of eleven members which probably will begin functioning within a few days.

La Follette adherents here do not expect to have candidates in the field in every state and district, but they expect enough of their supporters to be on the congressional ballots to give voters in sections where there is considerable La Follette sentiment an opportunity to record their preference.

AS THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY

THE Republican organs and politicians are trying fervidly to persuade themselves that LaFollette, as a presidential candidate, will take more votes from the Democratic than the Republican party.

Logic and facts, as shown by actual experience, are against any such conclusion.

In the first place LaFollette is a Republican, both by profession and by actual voting as a senator, and also in practice, because he enters Republican councils. He then is a bolting Republican.

In the second his strength is in the strongest Republican states. He has dominated the Republican party absolutely in Wisconsin and is supposed to be especially powerful in Minnesota. Why it is even generally admitted he will carry these two states. Therein he can not possibly do any injury to the Democratic party.

In the main his influence is felt in the northwest where Republicanism predominates. There is little prospect of him harming the Democracy there.

Finally it is the unbroken record in this country that a bolter hurts his own party, not the opposition to it.

"AS SHE IS SPOKE"

THE king's English can be put to strange and varied uses. On suitable occasions it may be used to induce meditation to the point of drowsiness on the part of persons whose avowed purpose in attending this devotional exercise is really not that of going to sleep. From the lips of a fire-brand orator it may fan into flames primitive passions that have long lain dormant.

Quite the most unique use of the king's English, however, is to be found in the annals of sport. The average citizen secure in the belief that he understands his mother tongue since he has written and spoken it all his life will find many a paragraph from the sport page to the understanding of which neither dictionary nor grammar textbook will help him. For instance:

"Wallie Pipp greeted the newcomer with a slap against the barrier of the right field stand for two bases, and Peck crossed the platter, while Ruth stopped at third. Lee caged Meusel's lift. Thereupon Frank Baker whanged the globe to deep right center for a triple, which conveyed Ruth and Pipp over the disk. After Ward had fanned, Baker tallied off Schang's one base jolt to the left. Jack Quinn whiffed for the curtain fall."

Here, as everyone will admit, is English composition which addresses itself to a large reading public. Excepting the proper nouns, every word of it is in good standing in the dictionary, and still to one not versed in the jargon of baseball the paragraph is altogether unintelligible. But what is still more baffling than its unintelligibility is the fact that to those skilled in the vernacular of baseball the very strangeness of the language is intended to add a charm to the message conveyed. Verily, the king's English may be put to a variety of uses.

SMUTS VOTED OUT

GEN. JAN C. SMUTS, last of the great figures of the World War to serve prominently in government, has been voted out in the Union of South Africa. He was defeated by a Labor party man in the parliamentary elections, the general result of which is the relegating of the South African party to a minority position. This party remains the largest single body in the parliament, but the Laborites and Nationalists together outrank it. The world-wide unrest, coupled with South African aspirations for independence, has worked a political overturn in this section of the British Empire similar to those that have been effected in many other countries.

As an indication of tendency the result will be considered grave. The Nationalists and Laborites in coalition can manage the government according to their will, but that they will agree upon secession remains to be demonstrated. The Labor party has its own ends to serve and they will not necessarily be advanced farthest by supporting the independence plans of the Nationalists. The latter are mostly adherents of the old Boer element that never has been satisfied with the union with Britain. But they and their Labor colleagues are expected to make a great deal of trouble for the Empire faction. If they make enough to secure from London concessions of worth the independence movement may subside.

CURSES, PLAIN AND FANCY

It is a funny thing that folk should be irritated when other people call them names. It is so easy to insult the average man or woman that it is a wonder anyone takes the trouble to do it.

Think of the expression "you poor fish." for instance. What does it mean? An answer is really hard to find, and yet it cannot be denied that pronounced in the scolding, rebuking way that the epithet suggests, it will make almost anyone fight. Various countries have various insults. If you tell a French-Canadian that he is a "pea-soup," it makes him mad. The Parisian, in a nasty mood, has little success in giving umbrage to his neighbor by such mere terms of affection as "crab" and "oyster." But let him go so far as to call the other a "poor little old cow," and he is in for a fist fight or a duel.

In the southern portion of the Apennine peninsula, the remark "May an accident befall you," is only a friendly way of passing the time of day. But expression of the hope "may you be carried home in four pieces," is due cause for a riot on the spot. There are many ways, the world over, for cursing your enemies, but when you come down to it they are all rather trivial things to say.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 22.—Word has drifted back from far-off Shanghai that Silver Dollar McKenna has turned the last card. He slumped down lifeless over the gaming table. Silver Dollar was known 20 years ago as Broadway's squarrest gambler.

He won the sobriquet Silver Dollar because of his custom of giving silver dollars to waiters, messengers and other menials for slight services. McKenna, it was said, in his early days, had studied for the priesthood.

He had a great shock of iron gray hair, wore a wide hat, tailored shirt and black shoe string tie. Once he made an effort to go into business, he had saved $20,000 out of his winnings. Three months later he went to a friend and said: "I'm cleaned."

He borrowed $50 and boarded an ocean liner for Monte Carlo. Sixty three days later the friend received a money order for $500. "Here is the loan with interest," he wrote. In a few months he came back again glittering with diamonds and carrying a well filled purse.

There was another time when McKenna was playing poker in a room in the old Fifth Avenue hotel. The stakes were high and he was winning. The son of a prominent New Yorker was dealing. McKenna saw him slip some cards to the bottom of the deck.

He stopped the deal, pushed his pile of chips over to the croupier and said: "Son, you need this—worse than I. Remember your place in the world. I am just a gambler but I play fair." The story goes the settler won home. The youth quit the gaming table and is today a man of big affairs. He always kept in touch with McKenna.

Another story concerns an oncast moth scorched in the Broadway flame. She had been the toast of the town—but died a crash on Tenth Avenue. McKenna had never met her but he ordered the most expensive coffin to be had, heaped the bier with flowers and in a solitary carriage followed the coffin to the grave.

Louis Wolheim deserted a professorship of mathematics at an Eastern university to capitalize his glibness on the stage. As the glowering and battered star in "The Hairly Ape" he gave stark realism to the part of a lier stoser. On the street, or wherever he goes, Wolheim's expression of primitive brutality causes heads to turn. He has a pugmugious jaw, a twisted nose, beetle brow and a gorilla swing to his bulky figure. Yet Wolheim is the most polished of men. His idle hours are spent among his collection of books. He loves to roam the galleries and attend scientific lectures.

It is odd to see how older New York women parrot the manners of flapperdom. They go in for the same slang, dance the same steps and dress in the same fashion. At almost any smart gathering these days the women appear the same age as the girls.

As a contrast it is wholesome to see the well, but plainly dressed, working girls of New York. They are politely distant and brisk in their manner. They do not "view life at such a hoidenish angle. They are straight forward and self reliant and it seems to me they have a much better time.

An obese and knock-kneed woman in a flashy riding habit was strolling down the avenue from the park bridge path. As she passed a carriage out of the horses gave a loud neigh. "Madam," shouted a newsboy, "he's giving you the horse laugh."

Also when a rider is thrown along the bridge path, the instructors call it "Pulling a Prince of Wales." Copyrighted, 1924, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Gently Hinted

A friend of Sam Johnson's met Sam, drowned in gloom, leaving his girl's house.

"What's the matter, Sam?" he asked. "Did yo' girl turn yo' down?"

"No," replied Sam. "Not prezekely so, ah, but Ah's afraid she's gwine to."

"Well, don't get discouraged so easy. Why is y' afraid she's gwine to?"

"She done married Zack Egg yesterday."

He Wins the Medal

"I understand," said Professor Blinks to his devoted wife, "that the student body voted in award to Geo. Loudly, who has always been considered the campus pest, the medal which goes each year to the man who has done the most for his alma mater."

"What, may I ask, did Loudly do?" "He left college."

Doc Koko's KOLUM

Lady Godiva
Returned from her ride
And backed to the talk
Of the servants inside.

"Good heavens!" she gasped,
As she slipped on a gown,
"Only one fellow looked?
Ye Gods! What a town!"

Assistant: "Here's a story from a Boston author that—"
Editor: "Return it and tell him we're not in the market for Western fiction now."
